Lashing out with the front legs and subduing their prey via salivary fluids injected through the sharp beak, this predatory creature feeds largely upon the body fluids of invertebrates, but will also take small tadpoles and fish. These salivary fluids contain chemicals that tranquilize prey and start digestion; their food is consumed in liquid form, in a manner similar to that of a spider. Prey include small insect larvae, water fleas, water lice, newts and water worms. Despite its name, the creature is not a true scorpion, and is a poor swimmer, preferring to move by walking. <ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1. Name three places the water scorpion is found.</li><li>2. How does the water scorpion eat its prey?</li><li>3. Which word implies the water scorpion hides and then jumps out?</li><li>4.
